Meetings of the Ladies' Auxiliary and County Board Held This Week.

Emmet Celebration and Irish Field Day Were Financial Successes.

Ladies Will Hold Charter Roll Open For Three Weeks.

COUNTY BOARD QUARTERLY MEETINGS

The County Board, Ancient Order of Hibernians, and the Ladies' Auxiliary held simultaneous meetings at Hibernian Hall Tuesday night. The County Board originally intended to meet on Wednesday, but as several of the members were to be out of the city on that night the change of dates was decided upon. The ladies met in the large hall and the members of the County Board met in the ante-room.

The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary was well attended and was called principally to hear the reports of the various committees in charge of the Robert Emmet centenary celebration. Miss Mary Cavanaugh presided and congratulated her fellow-members on the good attendance. Miss Florence Clancy was initiated. It was determined to leave the charter open until October 21, and one lady pledged herself to secure thirty new members by that date. The reports of the various committees showed that after all bills had been paid a comfortable balance was left in the treasury as a result of the Robert Emmet celebration. This put everybody in a good humor and gave the ladies confidence in themselves for the future.

The following Standing Committee was elected for the ensuing term: Miss Mary Sheridan, Chairman; Mrs. Thomas Keenan, Mrs. William M. Higgins, Miss Virginia Barrett and Miss Josephine Godfrey. A rising vote of thanks was extended to all who took part in the recent Robert Emmet centenary celebration and the Secretary was instructed to tender the thanks of the Ladies' Auxiliary to each person by letter.

Before the County Board adjourned the ladies sent Misses Josephine Godfrey, Lillie Callahan and Ella O'Connell to extend the members an invitation to attend their meeting. The invitation was accepted and as they filed into the large hall the County Board members were given a great ovation. State Secretary William T. Meehan welcomed the County Board in behalf of the Ladies' Auxiliary and gave a brief recital of what the ladies had accomplished.

Miss Cavanaugh, the President, called upon County President Sullivan to respond, which he did in an unusually happy manner. Mr. Sullivan expressed himself as being proud of the progress being made by the ladies, and said they were a credit to the city and State. He hoped they would continue their success, and referred briefly to the grand mission before them. The ladies, he said, possess the spirit that has beaten in Irish hearts for centuries, and closed with an eloquent eulogy of Irish womanhood and manhood.

Joseph P. McGinn also spoke, congratulating the ladies on the success of their recent celebration and promised his hearty support. County Secretary Pat Welsh predicted that within a year's time the Ladies' Auxiliary would outnumber in membership the four divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. John P. Mellon and Tom Callahan, of Division 4, both pledged the support of Limerick to the auxiliary. The meeting adjourned to meet on October 21.

County President Pat Sullivan presided over the meeting of the County Board. Roll call showed every division represented by two or more members. The meeting was called to hear reports of the various divisions. Division 3 reported that it had 107 members in good standing. State Treasurer George Butler, who was also Chairman of the finance committee for the Irish field day, made his report, showing a handsome balance on hand after all bills were paid.

It was determined to hold quarterly meetings of the board hereafter in January, April, July and October. In pursuance of this agreement the next meeting of the County Board will be held on the last Friday in October. At this juncture the board was called into the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Before adjourning the County Board received an invitation to attend the big initiation to be given by the Covington division on October 28.

POOR MISSIONS.

The Rev. Father Albert Stroebele, missionary to St. Andrew's Island in the Caribbean sea, gave an entertaining and instructive lecture Monday night to the members of Father Doyle Council, Young Men's Institute, of Cincinnati. The lecturer was given the greatest attention while he related his experiences on southern islands during the past two years. After the lecture the members of Father Doyle Council decided to give a eucharist either in October or November, the proceeds to be given to Father Stroebele, to assist him in building mission chapels in his beloved islands. Father Stroebele is on a collecting tour through the United States and has been given permission by the Most Rev. Archbishop Elder to preach or lecture and collect for his missions in all the churches of the archdiocese of Cincinnati.

HAPPY COUPLE

Celebrated the Fiftieth Anniversary of Their Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Twickler celebrated their golden wedding at their home, 839 East Chestnut street, on Tuesday, instead of on August 31, the actual fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Twickler have six living children—George, Henry, Joseph, John and Misses Lily and Mary Twickler. The latter is an Ursuline nun, now known as Sister Alexius, and is stationed at St. Joseph's Orphan's Home. Mr. and Mrs. Twickler were married in Louisville, August 31, 1853.

In honor of their fiftieth anniversary solemn high mass was celebrated by the Right Rev. Monsignor Francis Zabler at St. Martin's church on Tuesday. After the mass Mr. and Mrs. Twickler renewed the vows they made fifty years ago, and Father Zabler preached a sermon on the sanctity of the marriage tie. The Rev. Father Thome was deacon and the Rev. Father Berresheim sub-deacon of the mass. The choir sang Haydn's Imperial Mass. A trio by Joseph Hubbach, George Middendorf and Miss Theresa Reverman was excellently rendered, as were also solos by Mrs. Ida Noske and Mrs. George Krippenstiel.

A unique feature of the celebration was that Henry Middendorf and Mrs. Mary Wobben, who were the attendants at the marriage fifty years ago, were present and acted as attendants at the fiftieth anniversary on Tuesday. The church was filled with the friends and relatives of the happy couple.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Twickler gave an informal reception at their home on East Chestnut street. Many called to wish them happy returns of the day and numerous handsome presents were received. Mr. Twickler was born in Prussia, Germany, seventy years ago, but has spent the greater part of his life in Louisville. Mrs. Twickler was born at Oldenburg, Germany, and came to Louisville when quite young. Before her marriage she was Miss Dora Middendorf.

NEW CONVENT

Established By the Dominican Sisters in Southern Iowa.

The Sisters of St. Dominic, of which St. Catherine's at Springfield, Ky., is the mother house, have been engaged to teach the parochial school at Denison, Crawford county, Iowa, this year. Six of the Dominican Sisters have been sent there and have established the Convent of St. Rose of Lima. Their new school is attached to the parish of St. Rose of Lima, of which the Rev. Father M. J. Farrelly is pastor. Sister Alexia, who was Miss Bridget O'Sullivan, of this city, is the Mother Superior of the new convent and director of the school.

The Dominican Sisters are members of a great teaching order, which has now twenty-three novitiate houses in the United States. These houses are located as far east as Massachusetts and as far west as Spalding, Kas., and as far south as Memphis. More than 200 Sisters are engaged in the work of teaching the young. Kentuckians should be especially proud of the Dominican Sisters, as the order was founded by Kentucky girls at Springfield in 1822. Since that time the order has grown and flourished until branch houses have been established all over the land. In Louisville the Dominican Sisters conduct the Holy Rosary Academy, on Ormsby avenue, and the St. Louis Bertrand parochial school. At Springfield they conduct St. Catherine's Academy for girls. This year about ninety pupils are enrolled. The demand for teachers of this order is increasing each year and is now greater than the supply.

GOOD PROGRESS

Is Being Made by Sarto Council and New Members Secured.

Sarto Council, Young Men's Institute, at Owensboro, held an interesting meeting last Sunday. In addition to its original forty-one members, eight new candidates were initiated, and the officers promise to have seventy-five members before the new year. Sarto Council was organized on August 23, a little over one month ago. Since that time it has secured new and commodious quarters and is making favorable progress.

Fred Arnold presided over the meeting Sunday and Albert Oberst, delegate to the Grand Council, reported what had been done by that body. Grand Secretary-Treasurer George J. Lautz was present and made a brief address before installing James B. Clark the Grand Director. Mr. Clark spoke favorably of the Young Men's Institute, and promised to set to work at once with a view toward organizing new councils of the order in Henderson and other towns adjacent to Owensboro.

FIRST MASS

To Be Celebrated by the Rev. Father Reverman, Recently Ordained.

Gifted Young Man Has Spent Many Years Preparing Himself.

Church of the Immaculate Conception Will Be Crowded Tomorrow.

SPLENDID MUSIC WILL BE RENDERED

The Rev. Father Theodore Reverman, D. C., recently ordained in Europe, will celebrate his first mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Eighth and Grayson streets, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The other officers of the mass will be the Rev. Father Heiling, deacon, and the Rev. Father John Bohlsen, sub-deacon. The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. Father Bernard Westerman. The choir will sing Gounod's Mass, with Gounod's "Unfold" chorus from the Redemption at the offertory. Other special numbers will be Haydn's "Cantamus" and Owens' "Ave Maria."

REV. THEO. REVERMAN.

Gifted young priest returns home from Europe with high honors.

The Rev. Father Reverman was born and raised in Louisville. He is the son of Mrs. Louise Reverman, of Seventh and Jefferson streets. She and another son, August Reverman, an attorney, went to Europe to see Father Reverman ordained and returned with him to Louisville on Thursday. Father Reverman attended the parochial schools in this city and then spent one year at St. Meinrad's College, Indiana. After that he spent six years in Buffalo as a student at Canisius College, under the direction of the Jesuits. Later he spent four years studying theology and canon law at the great university at Innsbruck, Austria. During the last two years he has been attending the French seminary at Rome, which is also under the direction of the Jesuits. Before his ordination Father Reverman received the degree of Doctor of Canon Law.

It is not known yet whether Father Reverman will remain in the diocese of Louisville or will go elsewhere. The people of the Immaculate Conception congregation are proud of the acquirements of the young priest, as he is one of their own boys. The church will be crowded by his many friends and acquaintances tomorrow, as all are anxious to receive the first blessing of a young priest.

FINAL SUMMONS

Answered by Sister Hildegarde of the Sisters Charity.

The sad intelligence of the death of Sister Hildegarde, at Nazareth, brought sorrow to many homes in Louisville. She died at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, but the news of her death did not reach Louisville in time to permit any member of her family to attend the funeral. Sister Hildegarde was sixty years of age and had been a member of the Sisters of Charity at Nazareth more than thirty-five years. Before entering the order she was Miss Anna O'Daly. Born at St. Mary's of the Knobs, Ind., she came to Louisville with her family when quite a small child and was well known in this city before entering the convent. She was a sister of Capt. Eugene O'Daly, of the Louisville detective force, and of Capt. John O'Daly, of Seventh and Zane streets.

After serving her novitiate Sister Hildegarde was made a teacher of fancy needlework at Nazareth Academy. Owing to her great executive ability she was on numerous occasions sent to found new missions, notably those at Hardinsburg and Frankfort, Ky. She was likewise the first Mother Superior of St. Peter's Orphan Asylum at Lowell, Mass. At the latter place she was taken ill three years ago. Her ailment was catarrh of the stomach. She was ordered home with the view of restoring her to health, but the malady had gained such headway that she sank continually and slowly until death came to her relief. She died as she lived, with charity to all and ill-will for none. On Thursday of last week her brother, Capt. Eugene O'Daly, and his estimable wife visited Nazareth and spent several hours at the bedside of Sister Hildegarde, who knew that her earthly career was at an end. Her prayers and her thoughts even then were not for herself, but for the dear ones she was leaving behind. Death came to her as a peaceful sleep to a worn out child. On Sunday she was laid to rest in the quiet little churchyard at Nazareth. Masses were offered for the repose of her soul at more than fifty convents on Sunday and at the Cathedral and St. Louis Bertrand church the prayers of the congregation were offered that she might rest in peace.

GOOD TASTE

Shown in Design For a Milwaukee Family Monument Nearing Completion.

Col. Michael Muldoon has nearing completion a handsome family monument for the Keene family of Milwaukee. The monument is to be thirty feet in height and is made of Vermont granite. The design is that of an Ionian cross, similar to the handsome Muldoon family monument in Cave Hill cemetery. The order for the monument was given by the Hon. Francis Keene, United States Consul at Florence, Italy. Mr. Keene was formerly a newspaper writer and later a State Senator in the Wisconsin Legislature. He was appointed United States Consul and left for his post last May. Mr. Keene married a Louisville lady, Miss Emory Semple, so that he is almost as much at home in Louisville as in Milwaukee. In a recent letter to Col. Muldoon Mr. Keene inquires for a number of Louisville people and invites the Colonel and his family to visit him in Italy.

The Ionian cross takes its name from the island of Iona, the place to which St. Columba, or St. Columbkille, was banished from Ireland. Its ground was made sacred by the lives of St. Columba and his followers and for centuries was the burial place of kings, not only of Ireland and Scotland, but of rulers as far South as the Mediterranean sea. Duncan, King of Scotland, who was murdered by Macbeth, was the last monarch laid to rest on Iona. It was from that island that the Irish custom of wakes is said to have originated. When the body of a dead monarch was brought for interment the monks conducted religious rites and ceremonies for several days before the interment took place. The Ionian cross is somewhat similar to the Irish cross, for in addition to the cross proper it has a circle around the arms of the cross.

The Keene monument when erected will be an unusually handsome one and will be finished with the good taste for which the Muldoon Monument Company is noted. This same company only a few years ago erected the $500,000 monument for the Mackey family in New York.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Margaret Fleck, a well known German-American lady of the East End, died at her home, 1010 Milton avenue, at noon last Saturday. Her funeral took place from St. Vincent de Paul's church, Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased was eighty-nine years old, and was the mother of Chris and Nicholas Leightman.

Mrs. Katie McManhon, aged fifty-five years, died at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth's Hospital on Tuesday, after a brief attack of pneumonia. The deceased was the widow of P. J. McManhon and the mother of George R. and Harry A. McManhon. She was well known in the East End and noted for her many works of charity. The funeral took place from the Church of the Blessed Sacrament at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Miss Katherine Tighe, a highly respected young lady of New Albany, died at St. Edward's Hospital on Wednesday, after a brief attack of typhoid fever. The deceased was the daughter of William Tighe, of 1102 Ekin avenue, and a sister of Mrs. John J. Morgan and of William, Thomas and John Tighe. Her funeral took place from Holy Trinity church Friday morning. The bereaved family have the sympathy of many friends in their great grief.

Miss Winnie Dealy died suddenly at her place of employment, 1914 First street, on Monday morning. The deceased was born in Ireland twenty-six years ago, but had been in Louisville during the past seven years. She had no immediate relatives in Louisville. Her mother and father are still living in Ireland and two brothers are living in California. The remains were taken to Dougherty & Keenan's undertaking establishment and prepared for burial. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. Miss Dealy was noted for her pleasant and cheerful disposition, and her death was a great shock to her friends.

GOOD FOR INDIANA.

The recent Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute, Indiana jurisdiction, at Indianapolis, seems to have given the order a renewed impetus in our sister State. Since the Grand Council adjourned Brightwood Council has been established in Indianapolis and new councils were also established at Linton and Connersville, while former councils at Brazil and Columbus have been reorganized.

SEVERAL CHANGES

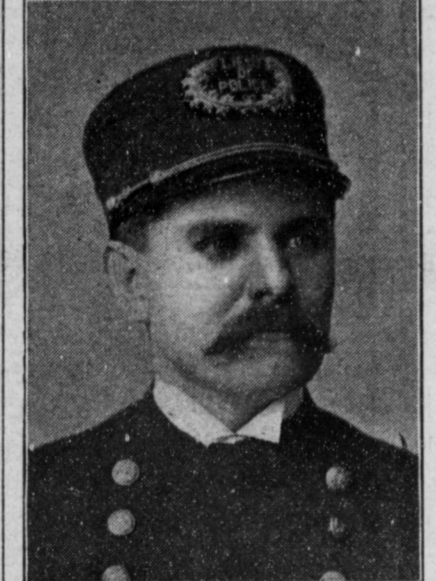

Made in the Standing of Contestants in World's Fair Contest.

Lieut. Tom Fitzgibbons Jumps Into First Place in Single Men's Race.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hennessy Still Ahead in Married Couple Class.

IRISH EXHIBIT AT THE GREAT FAIR

As can be seen by the table given below several changes have been made in the standing of the candidates for the Kentucky Irish American's World's Fair contest. Lieut. Tom Fitzgibbons has taken a good lead in the single men's race, while Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hennessy continue to maintain their lead in the married couple's race. Miss Katie Henley now leads the unmarried ladies, though several others are close behind her.

LIEUTENANT FITZGIBBONS
Now leads in this paper's great World's Fair contest.

It may be well to state again the nature of this contest. The Kentucky Irish American proposes to give a trip to the World's Fair at St. Louis next year to the most popular married couple, to the most popular single gentleman and to the most popular single lady. Railroad transportation and a week at the Lindell Hotel will be furnished free to the winners in each of the three races. The test of popularity is to be the number of votes cast through the Kentucky Irish American. One dollar will get you the Kentucky Irish American for a year. At the same time you are entitled to cast fifty votes for your favorite candidate with each dollar paid in. Besides that, ballots are printed in the Kentucky Irish American each week. These you can also cut out and cast for your favorite candidate. Old subscribers who are in arrears will also be allowed to cast fifty votes for each dollar paid in.

During the past few days the standing of the contestants has changed several times, and for awhile Mr. and Mrs. Dan McKenna led in the married couple's race, but friends of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hennessy came forward and placed them once more in the lead, though Mr. and Mrs. McKenna are a close second. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. McGinn are tie for second place. Charles Raidy and Patrolman Dave Burke took a spurt and are tie for second place with 150 votes each. John Cavanaugh is now in third place with 105 votes. Miss Mamie Reilly and Miss Alice Walsh are tie for second place, and it is suspected that their friends are holding back ballots for them. Several new entries are expected in all classes before the standing will be published again.

While the race is open to people of every creed and nationality, the contest seems to appeal particularly to the Irish-Americans and members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The national convention of the Hibernians will be held in St. Louis next year and the winners of the Kentucky Irish American's prize contests will be sent to St. Louis while the big convention is in session.

Moreover, Ireland will be well represented by a grand exhibit at the World's Fair. Dr. J. J. Kane and P. J. O'Brien, two prominent Irish-Americans of St. Louis, recently visited Ireland in the interest of the fair. It is expected that Irish industries representing every county in Ireland will be displayed. Models of the big Atlantic liners will be sent from Belfast. Displays of Irish linen, poplin and lace will also be made and samples of Irish marble will be a revelation to many visitors at the fair. The exhibit will be made with the view of showing visitors that if Ireland has not her share of the world's trade, her people have plenty of the industrial skill.

This offer of the Kentucky Irish American is an exceedingly liberal one. It should be taken advantage of. All that it requires is a little hustling on the part of yourself and friends.

The standing of the contestants is as follows:

MARRIED COUPLE.
John H. Hennessy and wife.....850

ROSAIRY SUNDAY

Will Be Celebrated at the Church of St. Louis Bertrand.

Beautiful and Instructive Ceremonies to Be Held Morning and Afternoon.

Many Devout Catholics Will Take Advantage of Toties Quoties Indulgence.

DEVOTIONS ALL OF THIS MONTH

The month of October is the month of devotion to the holy rosary, and in every Catholic church special devotions are held and the rosary recited at certain intervals. Of course these devotions are more frequent and more elaborate in those churches which are under the care of the Dominican priests. At the Church of St. Louis Bertrand, in this city, the devotions began Thursday evening and will continue every evening at 7:30 o'clock throughout the month, except on Saturdays. The devotion consists of the recitation of the rosary, a short sermon and benediction of the most blessed sacrament.

Tomorrow the great feast of the holy rosary will be celebrated at St. Louis Bertrand's church. At 10:30 o'clock solemn high mass will be celebrated. The Very Rev. Father E. A. Martin, O. P., will preach the sermon. The choir, under the direction of Prof. Charles Weiss, will render an excellent musical programme. Solemn vespers will be sung at 8:30 o'clock in the afternoon and will be followed by the rosary procession, a sermon on the rosary by the Rev. Father Matthew L. Heagan, O. P., and benediction of the most blessed sacrament.

In the rosary procession 150 children will take part and the fifteen beautiful rosary banners will be used. Each banner represents a different mystery of the rosary. The banners representing the joyful mysteries are blue, the sorrowful mysteries red and the glorious mysteries white. The rosary altar will be elaborately decorated with roses and the entire church will present an unusually beautiful appearance.

Father Heagan, who will preach the rosary sermon, is a gifted and eloquent young man and during his brief stay in Louisville has made a profound impression as a pulpit orator. Another feature of interest at St. Louis Bertrand's church tomorrow will be the "Toties quoties" indulgence. All those who have worthily received the sacraments of penance and holy eucharist can gain a plenary indulgence each time they approach the rosary altar and say a few prayers for the intention of our Holy Father Pope Pius X. These indulgences can be gained from sunset this evening until sunset tomorrow evening. This devotion is growing and each recurring year sees an increase of the number of faithful who approach the sacraments and then gain the indulgence by making repeated visits to the rosary altar. No doubt the church of St. Louis Bertrand will be crowded both at the late mass tomorrow and at the afternoon services. The general public is always welcome to attend the Dominican church.

BIG SMOKER.

To Be Given by Trinity Council in Honor of New Grand President.

Trinity Council, Young Men's Institute, held a well attended meeting Monday night. President Tom Garvey was in the chair, and considerable business of a routine nature was transacted. James B. Kelly, the new Grand President, and George J. Lautz, who was re-elected Grand Secretary-Treasurer, were present and were given quite an ovation. A committee was appointed to arrange for a eucharist to be held at Trinity Hall on Thursday, October 22.

The members decided to give a reception and smoker next Monday night in honor of James B. Kelly, the new Grand President. A number of good speakers will be on hand and a very enjoyable evening is promised. Trinity Council does well to honor Grand President Kelly. He is one of the pioneer members of the Young Men's Institute in Louisville and has always been a hard worker. No entertainment, no enterprise taken by Trinity Council has ever undertaken been without his earnest and energetic work. Mr. Kelly is a great organizer and has a knack of holding his organization together after it is made. Since his election, about ten days ago, he has set on foot the machinery for the organization of two new councils. The Young Men's Institute will certainly grow and flourish in Kentucky under his admirable leadership.

IRELAND MOURNS

The Death of Monsignor Gargan, President of Maynooth College.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Gargan, President of St. Patrick's College, Maynooth, died very recently in Ireland, and the whole country mourns. Monsignor Gargan was born in the County Meath in 1819. At the age of seventeen he entered Maynooth and was ordained in 1843. He then went to Paris, where he became professor of metaphysics in the Irish college. Two years later he returned to Maynooth and was appointed to the chair of humanity.

Father Gargan knew intimately every member of the Catholic hierarchy now living and many long since dead, besides being acquainted with every priest who studied at Maynooth during the last sixty years. At his death Cardinal Logue officiated at the solemn mass of requiem. His remains were laid to rest in the College cemetery.

FATHER LAVELLE

Appointed Vicar General of the Archdiocese of New York.

The Very Rev. Father M. J. Lavelle has been appointed Vicar General of the Archdiocese of New York, a position left vacant since the consecration of Archbishop Farley. Father Lavelle was born in New York City forty-seven years ago, and was ordained a priest in 1879. He was at once appointed junior assistant of the new Cathedral. All of his life as a priest has been in connection with the Cathedral parish. Since 1887 he has been rector of the Cathedral. In 1897 he was elected President of the Catholic Summer School. He has always been energetic in the cause of education and a great friend of young men. A few years ago the degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on him by Manhattan College. The appointment of Father Lavelle will give general satisfaction, as he has long been one of the most prominent clergymen in the diocese. His unbounded energies and administrative abilities have been put to numerous tests, and whenever he has been called upon he has demonstrated clear and painstaking judgment, foresight, skill in directing, and common sense, a very practical virtue, which admirably balances his other intellectual and moral qualities.

LOST AN ARM.

John Byrne Jr., the fifteen-year-old son of John Byrne, of New Albany, met with an accident Tuesday which resulted in the loss of his left arm. The youth was employed in a box factory and while at work his hand became entangled in the machinery and was so badly mangled that amputation was necessary. He is now resting as well as could be expected at St. Edward's Hospital.

AN ODDIOUS COMPARISON.

The editors of two local newspapers recently strove to draw a comparison between Robert Emmet, the Irish patriot and martyr, and Caleb Powers, thrice convicted of being one of the conspirators in the plot to assassinate the late Gov. Goebel. This comparison is not only odious to Irish and Irish-Americans, but is a desecration little short of sacrilege. Robert Emmet was a high type of manhood, well bred, intellectual, intelligent, broad-minded and with an undying love for his fellow-man. He loved his country better than his own life. He gave his fortune, his intellect, his education and his very life for the liberty of his country.

Caleb Powers has none of the attributes of Emmet. His sole stock in trade seems to have been ambition, the ambition which "oerleaps itself and falls on t'other side." Emmet fought openly for liberty, while Powers brought bands of mountain feudists to the State capital to inaugurate a reign of terror in order that he might grasp the emoluments of an office. Emmet was ever the leader, and even with death staring him in the face declined to name his colleagues who were striving with him for the liberty of their oppressed land. Powers fled to Louisville, while the assassin lay in wait for Senator Goebel.

What a comparison—Emmet and Powers! The Irish have been accused of many crimes, but never of assassination. Of course few Irish-Americans who read the editorials in the daily papers took them seriously. The editors sought to point out here and there alleged similarities in the careers of Emmet and Powers, but as Poo-Bah says, they were "merely corroborative details, intended to give an air of verisimilitude to a bald and unconvincing narrative." It was simply a play for the Irish-American vote.

Not many years ago a Protestant minister quered the Republican Presidential ticket in the national campaign by referring to the Irish in connection with "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion." Col. Belknap had better call off his editors before he meets the fate of James G. Blaine.

The Irish people, whether in Ireland or America, will fight for their rights, but when they fight it is in the open and under the folds of their green flag. Assassination and ambush are distinctively not Irish. Rest assured that the Irish-Americans of Kentucky will resent the comparison between Emmet and Powers; that they will fight on November 3, and instead of using a rifle behind the shelter of a darkened room will use the ballots of American citizens.

A TOUCHING TRIBUTE.

That the works of the good live after them we know. We see evidences every day that the good a man does upon earth does not follow him into the grave. But a touching and striking illustration of the fact that good works will live after their author has gone to his eternal reward was given us last week, when between 1,800 and 2,000 men, women and children made a pilgrimage to the grave of the lamented Monsignor Bouchet. It was the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination, and had he lived it would have been celebrated in a style befitting the occasion, probably not by Father Bouchet, but by the friends who loved to honor him. He abhorred display for himself, and had the celebration of his golden jubilee been left to himself he might have spent it much as any other day, in doing good among the poor and distressed. But he died six months ago, died as he had lived, praying to his God. His remains were laid to rest in the little graveyard at Nazareth, his favorite retreat.

But in the grave he was not forgotten, and when a few of his friends arranged to make a pilgrimage to his resting place on the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination, the news spread rapidly and the few swelled into thousands. Two trains laden with people made the journey to Nazareth. It was no holiday, no outing. No bands of stirring music were there to enliven the occasion. No, it was a heartfelt tribute from a people who had lost a tender father. The great majority of those who made the pilgrimage were men and women in the ordinary walks of life, men and women who depend for their bread upon the sweat of their brows. They went in all kindness and gentleness to lay the rosary of their tears upon his grave, and to offer their prayers for the repose of him who had been more to them than father. It was a touching and edifying spectacle, a truly Catholic spectacle, showing to the world that Catholics honor their priests in death as well as in life.

LATEST SIN OF THE IRISH.

The Koelnische Volkszeitung, a journal published in Cologne, Germany, declares that all the editors of the English Catholic press in this country are Irish. The German editor certainly did not intend to compliment the Catholicity of the Irish in America, but rather to disparage the Catholicity of Americans. When you come to think of it, perhaps the editor of the Cologne journal is correct. An Irishman by birth or parentage does seem to be at the head of nearly all the able Catholic journals and periodicals published in the English language in this country. Think of them yourself—Father Cronin, Father Phelan, James Jeffrey Roche, Patrick Ford, Charles J. O'Malley, Edward O'Brien and P. J. Haltigan are only a few of the many. If the Irish in America never have anything worse to answer for than editing Catholic newspapers they will indeed be blessed.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be registration days, and unless you register you will not be allowed to vote in November. Do not postpone registering until the last minute lest you forget it altogether. It behooves every citizen to cast his ballot for the officers who are to conduct the affairs of the city and State. The man who does not vote can have no right to denounce the officers elected if they do not suit him.

Gov. Beckham will today complete the fourth week in the campaign. Everywhere he has been met with ovations, and it seems that nothing can stem the tide in his favor. On Tuesday Gov. Beckham and Judge Matt O'Doherty addressed an enthusiastic crowd of 7,000 people at Lebanon. Judge O'Doherty's speech is said to have been one of the most effective of the campaign.

Sir Michael Herbert, the British Ambassador to the United States, died of consumption in Switzerland on Wednesday. The daily papers teemed with the story of his life, his ability as a statesman and diplomat, and with expressions of sympathy and regret over his untimely taking off, but not one of them mentioned the fact that he was a Roman Catholic.

The Democratic Committee has formed leagues in every precinct in the city of Louisville, whose business it will be to prevent illegal registration. It is the duty of every right-minded citizen to affiliate with this league and to render it every possible aid in securing evidence against those who register illegally.

SOCIETY.

MISS CATHERINE DELANEY.
An attractive visitor from Hartford, Ind., who has many Louisville admirers.

Miss Patsey Sullivan, of Elkton, is visiting friends in Louisville.

James McKenna, of Fairfield, visited friends in Louisville this week.

Miss Ada Byrne, of New Albany, is visiting her uncle, John Sullivan, at Rockport.

Mrs. Dooley, of Meade county, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Sullivan, in Parkland.

William Higgins, formerly a leather merchant of this city, has gone to St. Louis to visit his brother Frank.

Miss Mamie O'Mara, of Corbin, Ky., is visiting her cousins, the Misses Burke, on West Market street.

Miss Alice Toner has returned home from Danville, where she spent two months as the guest of Mrs. Sam Moore.

Miss Louise McCormick, of Nashville, Tenn., a most charming young lady, is the guest of Miss Norton, at 318 East Caldwell street.

Michael Krebs, a well known grocer of New Haven, Ky., and Miss Rosie Popp, of Louisville, will be married at New Haven on October 28.

Mrs. Joseph Brown and Miss Margaret Minogue, two popular ladies of Peterborough, Mass., who visited friends in this city, returned home on Thursday.

Misses Sallie and Nellie Hannan have returned home from Paducah, where they spent several weeks as the guest of their brother, Edward D. Hannan.

Joseph Hanrahan, until recently with the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, has accepted a position as clerk with the Illinois Central railroad.

Miss Matt McInerney, of South Bend, Ind., is visiting the family of her brother, Joseph Barrett, of the Louisville Herald, at his home, 2325 West Chestnut street.

Edward Receveur and Miss Anna G. Jones, both well and favorably known in New Albany, were married at St. Mary's of-the-Knobs church on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Frank B. Burke and daughter, Miss Jean Burke, who have been visiting Mrs. M. V. McCann, of Jeffersonville, left last week for their home at Indianapolis.

Fred Hoertz, the well known contractor, who has been ill at his home on Beechwood avenue, is much better this week and his speedy recovery is now looked for.

Joseph F. Rouck and Miss Viola V. Miller, of Lafayette township, Ind., were married by the Rev. Father Hillenbrand at the Church of St. Mary's of the Knobs on Wednesday.

Edmond Coll, formerly individual book-keeper at the First National Bank of Jeffersonville, has taken a position in the office of his brother, County Treasurer Bernard A. Coll.

The engagement of Joseph O'Connor and Miss Josie Donahue, popular young people of Jeffersonville, has been announced, though the date for the wedding has not been fixed.

Joseph Banet and Miss Eva Zimmerman, popular young people of Floyd county, Ind., were married at St. Joseph church, eight miles north of New Albany, on Tuesday morning.

James Wolfe, the well known grocer at Eighth and Oldham streets, is threatened with an attack of typhoid fever. Owing to his vigorous constitution his friends believe he will be able to ward off the malignant disease.

Charles Smith, who is at Sts. Mary's and Elizabeth's Hospital suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, is improving rapidly, and will be removed to his home next week. His many friends are pleased to hear of his speedy recovery.

Dr. A. S. Keim, formerly of this city, now physical instructor of the Y. M. C. A. at Memphis, is rejoicing over the advent of a fine baby boy. The youngster arrived last week. The mother and child are progressing favorably.

Patrolman Pat Keneally is receiving many congratulations, owing to the visit of a pretty baby girl who recently appeared at his home, 1410 Seventh street. Mrs. Keneally and the baby are progressing favorably and papa is very happy.

Miss Delia Garraghty, of St. Louis, has returned home, after a five weeks' visit to Miss Kate Melody, at Seventh and Zane streets. Miss Garraghty was the recipient of many social attentions while here and is greatly pleased with Louisville.

Mrs. Julia E. O'Bryan and daughter, Miss Mary O'Bryan, of Knoxville, Tenn., are the guests of Mrs. Mooney on Montgomery street. Mrs. O'Bryan and her daughter formerly lived in Louisville and were warmly welcomed by their many friends.

The many friends of Mrs. Eliza Jamison will be sorry to learn that she is ill at St. Joseph's Infirmary on Fourth avenue. Mrs. Jamison is one of the hardest workers in the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Charity Club and much of the success of the recent euchre was due to her efforts.

George A. Hoertz and Miss Annie C. Manemann were quietly married by the Rev. Father Raffo at St. Charles Borromeo church on Tuesday evening. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The bride is a popular young lady of the East End. Mr. Hoertz is the son of John Hoertz, the well known contractor and member of the School Board.

Cards have been issued announcing the approaching wedding of John F. Holland and Miss Alma Marie Kirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kirley. The ceremony will take place at the Church of the Sacred Heart at 6:30 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, October 14. Miss Kirley is a popular young lady of many accomplishments, and Mr. Holland is a rising young Main street business man.

George W. Cusaden, Jr., and Miss Ethel Woodman will be united in marriage by the Rev. D. F. Stafford at the Third Christian church on Wednesday, October 14. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Cusaden will take an extended honeymoon trip through points of interest in the East. The bride-to-be is a handsome and talented young lady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodman, and is well known in the West End. Mr. Cusaden is a son of George W. Cusaden, Sr., the well known caterer, and is associated with his father in business. Both young people have many friends who rejoice to hear of their approaching marriage.

Christopher C. Fitzgerald and Miss Eugenia O'Day, prominent young people of Lexington, will be married in the bluegrass capital in November. Mr. Fitzgerald is a civil engineer attached to the Chattanooga division of the Queen & Crescent railroad. He formerly lived in Portland, Ore., but during the Spanish-American war he volunteered and was given a commission as Captain of an Indiana company. For several months Capt. Fitzgerald was in charge of the sanitary work under General Wood in Havana. When peace was declared Capt. Fitzgerald retired from the army and determined to make his home in the South. For several years he was civil engineer of the Lexington division, but has recently been transferred to the Chattanooga division. His bride-to-be, Miss O'Day, is one of Lexington's most attractive girls, and is the leading soprano in St. Paul's church choir.

William J. Phelan and Miss Mary Long, two very popular young people, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Cathedral of the Assumption at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. More than 300 friends of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Father Rock, who spoke both before and after the ceremony on the dignity and sanctity of marriage. The attendants were Edward Dalton and John Long, a brother of the bride. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was given the bridal party at the home of the bride, 1710 West Magazine street. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Phelan left on an extended honeymoon trip. On their return next week they will begin housekeeping on Sixth street. Mr. Phelan is the head salesman for Laib & Co., and is well and favorably known in Main street business circles. He is also prominent in all Irish-American affairs, and is a member of Division 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians. His bride is a young lady of many attractive qualities and is one of several beautiful sisters. Until a few years ago the family lived in the East End. Few couples ever started on the journey through life with more friends and good wishes for future success than Mr. and Mrs. William J. Phelan.

FEAST DAY

Of St. Francis Will Be Celebrated at St. Boniface's Church.

Tomorrow is the feast of St. Francis of Assisi as well as the feast of the holy rosary, and as such is celebrated by the Catholic church the world over. The principal celebration of the feast in Louisville will be held at St. Boniface's church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when solemn high mass will be celebrated. During the mass the panegyric of St. Francis will be preached by one of the Franciscan priests. Three priests of the Dominican order will officiate at the mass.

St. Francis of Assisi and St. Dominic were contemporaries and great friends. Since their time their successors have always been closely associated. On August 4, St. Dominic's day, the Franciscans are invited to celebrate the mass for the Dominicans, and on St. Francis' day the Dominicans return the compliment. This year the services will be unusually solemn and the music of a high order. St. Boniface's choir, under the direction of Prof. Anthony Mollen-graff, will sing Gounod's mass.

St. Francis of Assisi lived in the thirteenth century and was devoted to works of charity and missionary work among the poor. He was the founder of the three orders of St. Francis proper, of the body of nuns known as the Poor Clares and of the third order of St. Francis for people in the world.

ENTERTAINING

Drama to Be Produced by Local Amateurs For Worthy Cause.

Catholic Knights of America
Expect a Great Crowd

Performers Have Been Given
Roles Particularly Suited to Them.

SEVERAL GOOD MUSICAL FEATURES

Arrangements for the dramatic entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America at St. Mary's Hall, on Eighth street, near Grayson, on Monday night, October 12, are moving along favorably. Rehearsals are being held twice a week and each of the performers has his or her part letter perfect. Under the capable management of Ben Speaker the dramatic work of the individuals is being rounded into a perfect whole.

The main feature of the dramatic entertainment will be the performance of "Tony, the Convict," a stirring drama of real life. It tells the story of a faithful brother who becomes a victim to a series of unfortunate events in order to shield his guilty brother. In the end virtue is triumphant, the villain is punished and "Tony, the convict," gets his proper reward. Just enough comedy feature runs through the drama to offset the pathos.

Ben Speaker, one of Louisville's oldest and most popular entertainers, is cast for the part of Tony, which is a guarantee that the character will be well taken. Sylvester Grove, the popular baritone, will be seen as Weary Wayside, a tramp, too tired to work, while John V. McDermott will appear as James Barclay, the heavy villain. Thomas D. Cline, one of the best known young men in local amateur theatrical circles, has a part particularly suited to him in Philip Warburton, the social leader. Michael Reichert will appear as Judge Van Cruger, the dignified presiding genius of the Supreme Court. F. Hulleman is cast for Burrows, the Warden of Sing Sing prison. Peter J. Schreck, another well known entertainer, will furnish much of the comedy as Pete Jackson, the negro footman.

Miss Lena Schickel, as Lena, the reputed daughter of Judge Van Cruger, has a winsome part and is bound to make a hit. Mrs. R. M. Wathen has an admirably suited part as the wife of Judge Van Cruger. Miss Josephine Robart has the difficult character of Miss Sedley, a lady who takes great pleasure in being disagreeable. Miss Rosa Stoehr, as Sally, a girl with a soul above hash, will help out wonderfully with the comedy work.

The drama is laid in New York State. In the first act a view of the interior of Sing Sing prison and the life of the convicts is given. In the second, third and fifth acts the scenes are laid in Judge Van Cruger's home on the Hudson river, while in the fourth act a view of Tony's humble cabin is given. During the first and second acts Miss Ada Cunningham will sing and dance to the delight of all, and during the third and fourth acts the acrobatic quartet will sing several of their latest selections. The gentlemen who will appear as convicts in the first act are Messrs. A. Tachan, Clem Brooker, John Gleisner, Sam Merrifield, Peter Schreck, Ben Speaker and Sylvester Grove. The committee in charge of the entertainment is working hard to make it a success. The affair has been well advertised and many tickets have been disposed of. Before the dramatic performance the Very Rev. Father Westernman will deliver a brief address on affairs of interest to the Catholic Knights of America.

THE ROSARY CONFRATERNITY

In another column will be found the programme for the devotion to the Holy Rosary as it will be practiced at St. Louis Bertrand's church this month, and more especially the solemn celebrations of Rosary Sunday to be held tomorrow afternoon. One of the Dominican Fathers has written the following description of the rosary for the Kentucky Irish American:

The rosary teaches us in the plainest manner all the virtues and sweetly leads its votaries to practice them. It is for this reason particularly that the rosary is the source of all the merit claimed for it. Who more frequently, more grandly and more openly professes his faith than the pious Rosarian? Who has stronger hopes while yet on earth of reigning with Jesus and Mary in their kingdom than he? His trust is absolutely free from presumption. He relies on the blood of Jesus and on the intercession of Mary with Jesus to make him fit to enter into the home of the just, to make him correspond with the graces that are given to him. Who has more ardent charity than he who faithfully complies with all the obligations of the Rosary Confraternity?

What is the confraternity of the rosary? A confraternity in the Catholic Church is a collection, a gathering, an aggregation, an association of Catholics united by certain spiritual bonds and existing for certain spiritual ends. The bond which unites the members of the confraternity of the rosary is vocal and mental prayer, which constitute the holy rosary. The object or end of the confraternity is first of all the sanctification of the individual member and then the sanctification of fellow-members.

The obligations of the confraternity are so light that they do not in any way interfere with any other duty. Consequently any one may join it. Laymen who are members of other confraternities can also join the confraternity of the rosary and will find in it wonderful help in their daily avocations. Religious men and women have testified that they found it a great spiritual help. Most of the Popes for centuries have belonged to it. In its ranks there have been Cardinals, Bishops and priests unnumbered.

Our late Holy Father Leo XIII., called the "Pope of the Rosary," in many letters and encyclicals urged most earnestly the great devotion of the rosary. In the encyclical of 1883 Leo XIII., after dwelling upon the many and great advantages which result from the devotion of the rosary, said:

"Not only, then, do we invite all Christians to apply themselves, whether in their own homes or in the churches, to the recitation of this pious office of the rosary and to continue without weariness in this holy practice, but we desire that the month of October in this year should be entirely consecrated to the Holy Queen of the Rosary."

This desire of the Holy Father was of course gladly acceded to by his worldwide flock, and the consecration of an entire month to the rosary pleased the Catholic world so well and proved productive of such excellent results that ever since October has, by universal consent, been set apart for this particular devotion and become, as it were, another May, no day of which the practical Catholic allows to pass without honoring the Blessed Virgin by the pious recitation of her beads.

The three principal conditions of membership are as follows: First—The person wishing to become a member should have his name entered upon the register of the confraternity. This may be done by handing one's name (Christian and surname) to any Dominican priest or by sending it to any Dominican convent. Second—The rosary beads must be blessed by a Dominican father or by a priest who has received faculties from the superior of the Dominicans for the purpose. Third—The rosary of fifteen mysteries should be said each week.

Pope Leo XIII., in his Apostolic Constitution, wrote: "The Confraternity therefore is open to receive persons in all ranks and callings, exacting no payment of money as a condition of membership, but seeking to bind to each other by the one bond of the common recitation of the rosary."

It has been the custom of the Dominican fathers of St. Louis Bertrand's church, at Sixth and St. Catherine streets, for many years past to have a solemn reception of members into the Rosary Confraternity on the first Sunday of October, the feast of the "Most Holy Rosary."

We have not space to devote to the enumeration of the wonderful indulgences that may be gained by membership in the Rosary Confraternity. But we explain briefly the most wonderful of all indulgences, that of the Toties Quoties, that may be gained on the first Sunday of October. This wonderful indulgence could be gained formerly in comparatively few places, but later the privilege has been extended to every church in which the confraternity of the rosary has been canonically erected, and the privilege extends also to all the faithful. This great indulgence is called the Portiuncula of the Rosary Confraternity.

The phrase "Toties Quoties" means "as often as." Hence a plenary indulgence Toties Quoties means a plenary indulgence as often as the visit is made to the rosary altar, provided the other conditions are complied with. The conditions are: Confession, communion, prayers for the Pope's intentions, a plenary indulgence may be gained for each distinct visit made to the rosary chapel or altar from first vespers of the feast, Saturday afternoon, till sundown on the feast of the Holy Rosary—first Sunday of October.

How grand! The confraternity of the Rosary! What a wealth of graces the Rosarian may obtain through the rosary! Next to the holy sacrifice of the mass and the stations of the cross, there is no form of prayer in the church so richly indulged as the rosary. It is well for Catholics to know the few more about this grand confraternity, and seek to become members of it. The conscientious member of the Rosary Confraternity surely seems predestined for heaven.

Who manifests more real charity for his neighbor than the faithful Rosarian? Whatever he wishes for himself he begs of God through Mary to grant his neighbor. The Our Father and Hail Mary he recites so often are so many acts of love for his neighbor, that is, for all mankind. But the merit of him who recites the rosary is not confined to the theological virtues; it extends by desire to all the virtues, and we know that when the desire is sincere it stands before God for the act itself. Verily, the true Rosarian desires to have all virtues; he asks for them, and he sincerely prays for himself, with the help of God and the intercession of the ever immaculate Mary to acquire all. Who can calculate the immense number of merits that he acquires by each rosary he recites? Blessed, a most grave author, tells us that it has been expressly revealed to a Carthusian father that for each rosary well recited "an infinity of merits is acquired by those reciting it."

But the Rosarian has within his reach many other advantages besides those just named or only referred to, because, in addition to the merits which a member of the confraternity amasses by himself, provided he has had his name recorded in the confraternity book, and provided he recites the whole rosary once a week, he participates in the merits of all the other members of the confraternity. According to an express declaration of several Masters General of the order of Friars Preachers, to whom has been confided by the Popes the direction of the confraternity, every member who recites the rosary is admitted during his life and after his death to participate in all the good works that are done or will be done at any time by any or all of the members of the three orders of St. Dominic, and by the brothers and sisters of the confraternity of the rosary.

That is, he has a share in the merits of the most perfect of the religious orders, the apostolic labors of every description which are undertaken for the greater glory of God by all the friars-preachers in all their convents and missions throughout the world; he participates in all the good that is done or will be done throughout the world by the daughters of St. Dominic, or by the Dominican Sisters consecrated to God in religion; he shares in all the merits of the brothers and sisters of the third order, which is so numerous and so widely established in Christendom; he participates in all the good done or yet to be done by so many myriads of members of the Rosary Confraternity which is to be found scattered all over the church.

Finally, the members of the Rosary Confraternity share not only in the merits of their living confreres, and also in those of the saints and daughters of St. Dominic still living, but they are admitted by a special privilege which Mary has obtained for them from her Son, as she herself has revealed to Blessed Alan, to share during life and after death in all the merits of the saints, beatified and holy persons of the three orders of St. Dominic from their very foundation, and also in the merits of all the members of the Rosary Confraternity that departed this life in the state of grace from its very establishment.

We can, at least to some extent, appreciate both the value of the favor procured for her dearly loved Rosarians by our good mother, and consequently their security with regard to reaching heaven if we only take into account that the Dominican order has 257 saints and beatified persons enjoying in God's church today an approved worship; if we reflect that this same glorious order has given in the thirteenth century 13,370 and in the sixteenth century 26,000 martyrs to the embraces of Jesus and Mary, and if we still further take into consideration the incalculable number of Rosarians in heaven, their number must be immense from what our beloved mother has said to Blessed Alan.

Now in the merits of all those named the members of the Rosary Confraternity whilst living and after death participate. Surely we have a right to infer that the lot of Rosarians has been at all times and ever will be most secure, and we may well exclaim: Blessed indeed are the members of the confraternity of the most holy rosary! Blessed for the reasons given, and blessed because of the cheerful words contained in other declarations made by our sweet mother in their favor to Blessed Alan.

In the revelations made by the holy mother of God to the restorer of the rosary she announced first that God has written before-hand in the Book of Life the names of those who have themselves enrolled in the Confraternity of the rosary; secondly, that devotion to the Rosary is a brilliant sign of predestination; thirdly, that her love for the members of the Rosary Confraternity surpasses the united love of all mothers for an only son, that of all wives together for a tenderly cherished husband, that of all brothers and sisters for one another, and all the reciprocal affection of all the most perfectly attached friends on earth. Furthermore she stated that sooner than let any of her Rosarians perish eternally she would be willing to renounce her glory in heaven until the end of the world, and that she would come herself on earth and do penance for them! We may well say that the rosary is an infinite treasure of merits, and that God in giving us Mary—the Queen of the Rosary—has given us all things with her.

MRS. GREEN DEAD.

Mrs. Mary Green, one of the most highly respected ladies in the southern part of the city, died at her residence, 1306 Sixth street, at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. The deceased was sixty years old and was the widow of Capt. Tom Green. The deceased leaves one daughter, Miss Kate Green, who has the sympathy of the entire community in her bereavement. The funeral will take place from St. Louis Bertrand's church at 9 o'clock this morning.

SUCCESSFUL EUCHRE.

The euchre given for the benefit of St. William's church Tuesday evening was well attended. Misses Alice Cullen, Helen Hollenkamp and Nell Brown, who had the affair in charge, deserve credit for the success which attended their efforts.

ENGLISH SERMON.

Beginning tomorrow and every Sunday thereafter the sermon at the children's mass at St. Boniface's church, at 8:30 o'clock will be preached in English. Hereafter the sermons have been in German.

MACAULEY'S.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," a dramatization of the novel of that name, will be the attraction at Macauley's Theater all of next week. An excellent company has been gotten together, and all have been carefully trained. Of course as the Cabbage Patch was well known in Louisville long before the novel was written, it has a peculiar interest for Louisville people. For that reason the management of the dramatic company decided to produce the play in this city. If it is a go in Louisville its success will be assured elsewhere. There will be the usual matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

MASONIC THEATER.

One of the most sumptuously staged musical comedy successes of the season is billed to appear at the Masonic Theater next week. The production is entitled "The Good Old Summer Time," and will doubtless meet with as much public approbation as its tuncful predecessor, George (Honey Boy) Evans heads the aggregation of sixty-five people appearing in the melodious comedy. No expense has been spared in making this the most gorgeously gowned comedy on the road, and the beauty of stage setting and apparel is enhanced by dazzling and original electrical effects.

HOPKINS.

Good vaudeville attractions continue to draw large crowds to Hopkins' Theater. The artists this week are all that they were claimed to be. Next week the management will offer Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy in an Irish comedy sketch; Hays and Healy, the giant and the dwarf; Lotta Gladstone, in the latest songs; McNulty sisters, song and dance artists; the trolley car trio, acrobats; Leah Russell, monologue artist; Shaanon and Lucifer; Lew Palmer, black face comedian, and the popular biograph. Matinees are given every day.

BUCKINGHAM.

Scribner's Morning Glories Company will hold the boards at the Buckingham Theater next week. The Morning Glories is reputed to have the best chorus in the world. Added to that the burlesques are new and novel, the scenery gorgeous, the costumes handsome and the electrical effects dazzling. In the olio are such customers as the Mark Murphy Trio, Cooper and Schall, Scott and Wilson, Rose Jeannette, Reynolds and Watson, George B. Hoyt, Harry Hastings, Viola Sheldon and Inza Orner.

There are many plaids among the new stuffs, but Americans never favor plaid enthusiastically, even when they have a Parisian vogue, and the chances are that the small checks and less pronounced designs will have the preference.

For immediate wear the tweeds, home-spuns, and even lighter weight wools are better than the heavy winter materials, and the shepherd's plaid wools, which have been in favor all summer, make excellent September shirt waist costumes and coat and skirt suits.

UNIQUE HOUSE PARTY.

The management of Estill Springs has planned a most charming affair for the early part of October, which it is proposed to conduct somewhat like a big house party. The plan is to make a rate of $1 a day for ten days at the Springs and to bring together a large and attractive gathering for this grand season of all the year. The Southern Railway has made a rate of $3.50, for the round trip from Louisville to Irvine, Ky., tickets good returning ten days. Thus for the small sum of $3.50, you can enjoy such an attractive trip as twice the money would not have purchased earlier in the season. No efforts will be spared to make this a red letter event. The wonderful beauty of the mountain scenery with the added glory that autumn gives, the medicinal waters, the delicious fare, the attentive service, and the other attractions of this famous resort can not fail to delight you. This offer is only good for the 7:40 a. m. Southern train of October 10, so far as the railway is concerned, and only for the ten days succeeding October 10 at the Springs. For further information apply to the Southern Railway ticket office, 234 Fourth avenue, Louisville. Telephone Main 1937, or address C. H. Hungerford, D. P. A.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

Henry A. Cutler has been elected City Surveyor of Belfast.

Attorney Healy, of Ennis, has been appointed clerk of the Crown for the County Clare.

The first sale of land under the new Irish land bill was held on the Malahide estate.

Felix McMahon, aged forty years, was found dead in bed at his boarding house in Cork.

Catherine Cremin, a venerable lady of Inniscara, died recently at a very advanced age.

John Cullinan, a farmer near Ennis, committed suicide by hanging while temporarily insane.

Mrs. Isabella O'Connell, wife of Daniel O'Connell, died recently at Darrynane Abbey, County Kerry.

Secretary Chamberlain has declined an invitation to address a public meeting in Belfast during the fall.

William Coughlin, a prominent and respected resident of Rathclare, is dead at the age of sixty-six years.

The Right Rev. Bishop Sheehan will open the Feis at the Christian Brothers' high school on September 27.

Miss Alice Smith was drowned while bathing on the coast of Antrim. Her body was found on the beach.

Alfred Sellers, a sub-officer of the Cork fire department, was crushed to death by falling walls while attending a fire.

A bazar will be held in the city of Waterford to secure funds for the erection of a new sacristy for St. John's church.

Myles Keane, of Ennis, was stabbed in the groin and may die as the result. Keane refuses to give the name of his assailant.

R. J. Hayes, manager of the national bank at Abbeyfeale, has intimated his intention of opening a branch of his bank at Atha.

John Cotter, a Cork fisherman, has been presented with the bronze medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving several lives.

A staging erected around a vessel being constructed at Harland & Wolff's shipyard, Belfast, collapsed. Five workmen were seriously injured.

Bridget Carmody, four years old, was burned to death at her home in Limerick. The child was playing with the fire while her parents were absent.

Louis F. R. Daly has been presented with the medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving Patrick McMahon, a six-year-old boy, from drowning.

Walter Callan, an attorney of the department of agriculture and technical instruction, has been appointed second secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

The body of Margaret Murphy, daughter of a farmer near Ballintemple, Belfast, was found in a bog hole in the County Armagh. Her throat had been cut in two places.

Mayor Morrissey, of Clonmel, has finally taken the magisterial oath. He was supported in his determination by six Aldermen, while three opposed his taking the oath.

Thomas Terry, the fourteen-year-old son of the gatekeeper at Clonmel railway station, fell from a second story window and sustained injuries which it is feared will prove fatal.

The Cork County Council adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of J. P. Howard, of Belmont, Crookstown, and followed the remains from St. Patrick's church to St. Joseph's cemetery.

Lawrence J. Dennehy, youngest son of the late Cornelius Dennehy, and Miss Blanche Edith Pearson, both popular in Dublin society circles, will be married during the second week in October.

John Curran, of Dunworth House, Queenstown, and formerly of Castlemary, is dead at the age of sixty-three years. He leaves a widow and several children. His death is generally mourned.

Union workmen in Belfast shipyards are indignant over a recent reduction in wages. The men threaten a strike and the employers threaten a lockout. Several thousand men will be affected in either event.

The Cork Young Ireland Society has started a movement for the erection of a monument to the gallant men of 1798, 1803, 1848 and 1867. It is proposed to erect the monument on the Grand Parade in Cork.

The continuous heavy rains of the last seven weeks have greatly interfered with the growth and harvesting of the crops in nearly every county in Ireland. Prayers for cessation of the rain have been ordered by the Bishops in several dioceses.

Robert McElvor, Joseph Orr and William Fraser, of the County Tyrone, are supposed to have been drowned while crossing to the Donegal side of the Foyle river. The boat they used was found floating upside down, but nothing has been heard of the young men.

Farmers in the West of Ireland are very much depressed over the long continued rainfall. Cereal crops are hopelessly damaged and potatoes that have escaped the blight threaten to fall victims to the rot. The outlook is very serious, particularly in Galway.

A priest of the Redemptorist order called at the post-office in Belfast for letters for the monastery. On receiving them he signed his name in Gaelic characters. The clerk insisted that the priest sign his name in English. This he declined to do. The clerk demanded the return of the letter which the priest surrendered and walked away.

Capt. Edward Byrne, an old and respected citizen of Cork, died recently and the news of his demise was received with general regret. For many years he was commodore captain of the Cork Steam Packet Company and upon his retirement was elected Harbor Master. As a man he was liberal and unpretentious. He was the father of Dr. R. P. Byrne, of the North Infirmary, and of Dr. Frank Byrne, the veterinary surgeon.

James Lawrence Carew, for many years a member of the Irish Parliamentary party, died recently on the continent of Europe. Mr. Carew represented North Kildare in Parliament from 1885 to 1892, and from 1896 to 1900 he represented the College Green division of Dublin. In 1900 he was defeated for re-election in Dublin, but was returned from South Meath. For years he was a Whip of the Irish Parliamentary party.

A severe storm swept over the North of Ireland recently and incidentally gave a number of priests a perilous experience. Several Vincentian fathers who were conducting a mission at Malin Head, North Donegal, and Fathers Morris, O'Callaghan and O'Mullan, of Malin Head parish, started to visit the Island of Innistrathull in a boat. The storm arose while they were at sea, drenching the priests and oarsmen. The whole party were storm-bound at Innistrathull for several days.

Dr. Thomas O'Dea has been consecrated Bishop of Clonfert. The ceremony took place at Loughrea, Cardinal Logue officiating. After the ceremony Bishop O'Dea, in replying to the address of welcome, said that he hoped to take part in future in every movement for the temporal welfare of his diocese and the country at large. He would take a special interest in the restoration of the land to the people, a renewal of their industries and in seeing the nation self-centered in its government.

TICKET NAMED.

Useful and Influential Citizens
Nominated for Unsalaried Offices.

The Democratic City and County Executive Committee met Wednesday afternoon and named the party's candidates for Aldermen, Councilmen, School Trustees and Park Commissioners. The men chosen are excellently fitted for the offices for which they have been nominated. They are all men of influence and are among the city's best citizens. In the list are to be found merchants, manufacturers, bankers, professional men and representatives of labor unions. It would be impossible to name a better ticket than the committee has chosen. The party leaders realize that in order to win only first class citizens should be selected to make laws for the city and to attend to the affairs of the public schools. Taken as a whole there is not a weak spot in the list of names.

TALK TO VETS.

The Rev. Father John P. McParland, pastor at Pewee Valley, will deliver a sermon at the Confederate Veterans' Home on Sunday afternoon. Father McParland preached the first sermon ever delivered in that worthy institution, and will address the veterans on the first Sunday of every month hereafter.

Young white onions are very nice cooked in boiling water, sliced and served on buttered toast like asparagus.

NEW MEMBERS.

Lambert Young Council, Young Men's Institute, at Frankfort, held a well attended meeting on Monday night. The second degree or Institute Rank was conferred on Frank Sullivan and Frank Gobber. President John Lukemeier was in the chair, and James Sowers was Chairman of the Initiatory Committee.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

A division of the order was recently organized at Pittsfield, Ill.

Division 12 of Providence will give a grand ball on the eve of Thanksgiving.

Division 5, Ladies' Auxiliary, of Waterbury, Mass., gave a social on Wednesday.

A new division has been organized at Herkimer, N. Y., with a membership of forty-five.

The Jeffersonville division will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting on Tuesday evening.

Division 31 of Boston gave a delightful reception recently in honor of Ladies' Auxiliary No. 15.

None of the local divisions of the order held meetings during the present week because none were scheduled.

More than 400 members and friends of Division 30, Boston, attended a smoker recently and listened to music and addresses.

Division 5 of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Woonsocket, R. I., and Division 6 of the Hibernians have arranged to give a joint bazar in November.

Members of the order in New York City recently held their fifty-third annual picnic. A number of track and field events were spiritedly contested.

Brandon Tynan's great Irish drama, "Robert Emmet," will be produced in Buffalo on October 5 under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Division 5 of Belleville, N. J., will give a literary and musical entertainment on October 9. During the evening their chaplain will deliver a lecture on Ireland.

The various divisions in Jefferson, Clearfield, Indiana and Elk counties, Pa., held their first annual reunion at Debois recently. More than 1,000 men were in the street parade.

P. J. McNulty, County President of New York, has returned home after a long absence in Texas, where he was sojourning for his health. He has been much benefited by his trip.

Division 3 will meet Monday evening and a good attendance is desired, as arrangement will be completed for celebrating the nineteenth anniversary of the organization of this division.

The old Hibernian Hall in Providence, R. I., is about to be torn down and in its stead will be erected the new Chamber of Commerce. As a consequence the several divisions in Providence are contemplating the erection of a handsome new building on another site.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Has Plenty of Hard Work Mapped Out for the Coming Season.

Mackin Council, Young Men's Institute, held a well attended meeting Tuesday night and transacted considerable business. Dan Weber, Chairman of the dance committee, reported that it had been decided to give a dance at Fountain Ferry Park on the night of Tuesday, October 20. The report of the committee was adopted. Arthur Caskey, of De Fraine Council, Lebanon, was granted a transfer to Mackin Council. The following committee was appointed to arrange for a series of euchres to be held in the near future: Frank Adams, Hugh J. Higgins, Alfred Wall, Hugh Riley and Frank Schmidt. After the meeting of the council the committee met and decided to hold the first of the series of euchres at Mackin club house on October 15. The other euchres will be held every Thursday night thereafter until Advent. Invitations will be printed and can be secured by applying to members of Mackin Council.

Grand Secretary George J. Lautz addressed the council and made an interesting talk on the work accomplished by the last Grand Council. His address took the place of the report of the delegates from Mackin, none of whom happened to be present.

CARON'S DIRECTORY.

The work of canvassing for the Caron City Directory for the year 1904 is now well under way and Superintendent Steve Smith has an excellent force of energetic young men on his staff. The Caron Directory of Louisville is second to none in the country and improves each year. The public should give the canvassers all desired information, as a good directory greatly facilitates business. Joseph Woods, who was with the Caron Directory for many years before he went to Chicago last fall, has returned and is canvassing in the business part of the city. His return to Louisville is hailed with delight by his friends and his ability is fully recognized by his employers.

PAT WHITE RECOVERING.

Patrick White, the night watchman at the Buckingham Theater, was the victim of a mysterious assault last Friday night. Mr. White had occasion to eject several obstreperous persons during the evening and it is presumed that they hid later in the night and assaulted him as he was entering the lobby about 3 o'clock in the morning. He was painfully beaten with what appears to have been brass knuckles. He was found unconscious a little later and was removed to his home on Jefferson street, near Ninth. Mr. White's injuries while painful are not serious. He will soon be able to resume his duties.

NEW MEMBERS.

Lambert Young Council, Young Men's Institute, at Frankfort, held a well attended meeting on Monday night. The second degree or Institute Rank was conferred on Frank Sullivan and Frank Gobber. President John Lukemeier was in the chair, and James Sowers was Chairman of the Initiatory Committee.
